NASHVILLE, Tenn. – July 20, 2017 – The Nashville Business Journal named Applied Health Analytics, LLC Chairman & CEO Robert Chamberlain a Health Care Hero -Entrepreneur, for his work as a health care professional who launched a company in Middle Tennessee and is making strides within the industry. An independent panel looked for heroes in health care who improve aspects of the industry such as quality, safety and patient experience, and spur innovation. This is Chamberlain’s second Health Care Hero recognition by the publication. He was named Health Care Hero – CEO in 2014.

“Applied Health Analytics’ software, along with the strategy provided by Robert and his team, is an integral component to the positive trajectory of our system’s HEALTHWORKS division,” said Daniel J. Birach, president, HEALTHWORKS Division at Carolinas HealthCare System and Applied Health Analytics’ board member. “Not one to rest on his laurels, Robert continues to develop innovative paths for his company to travel to make data more digestible and transactional, and to meet the commercial market consumer where they are.”

Chamberlain is a veteran executive and noted entrepreneur with over 30 years of experience working with employers and health systems across the United States. A frequent speaker on entrepreneurialism and successful payer-provider partnerships, Chamberlain has authored numerous articles which have appeared in such publications as The Tennessean, Healthcare Financial Management Magazine, Benefits & Compensation Digest, Health Management Technology and Modern Healthcare. Nashville Business Journal named him a 2014 Healthcare Hero and Applied Health Analytics one of 2014’s 30 fastest growing small businesses. The company was also named a finalist for the Nashville Area Chamber of Commerce and Entrepreneurial Center’s 2014 NEXT Awards, which celebrates excellence in business and entrepreneurship.

“Under Robert’s guidance, Applied Health Analytics has been an ideal partner for Evolent Health’s Employer Solutions division,” said Eric Parmenter, market president, Tennessee national leader, Employer Solutions at Evolent Health. “We have a shared commitment to providing innovation and strategy that guides health systems in their work to transform health care delivery. Robert’s knowledge and understanding of how to bring employers and health systems together to identify health risks, increase efficiency and address health care cost concerns is second to none.
